Nagasaki-style Koinobori

📍 Event Square

🕒 08:30 - 18:00

🆓 Free

4/16 (Tue) - 5/6 (Mon)

In Japan, May 5 is known as "Children's Day". Families pray for the health and happiness of their children, and decorate their houses with carp-shaped windsocks called "koinobori". You can see traditional Nagasaki-style koinobori in the Event Square (in the Museum's courtyard).

Katsushika Hokusai was a Japanese artist, who lived in Edo (now Tokyo) around 250 years ago. He's one of the most famous authors of ukiyo-e, popular woodblock prints depicting actors, courtesans, landscapes, etc. The "Hokusai Manga" is a multi-volume drawing manual, containing sketches of various subjects he produced for his pupils to copy. In this Gallery Talk we will visit an exhibition dedicated to the "Hokusai Manga".
